Dear Sir:

In regard to the automobile policies which expire on the 26th, my daughter has the car in Boston and will probably register in Massachusetts. I have written here whether she will be obliged to have it insured in Boston as they have compulsory insurance laws there. When I hear from her I will write you again.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Wood:

I have been advised by our Boston office that you have transferred your car to your daughter.

This places the risk in the doubtful class, or what is classified as a student risk risk, in view of the fact that your daughter is presumeably between the ages of 17 and 18.

Such risks as these are frowned upon by insurance companies, and entail a higher premium to write.

It would be my advice to allow us to write this policy as before, under the Conn. rates and I know you will be saving quite a sum in premiums.

If this arrangement is satisfactory to you please advise by return mail, and also send me Ocean Accident & Guarantee policy No.285203 for pro rata cancellation.

Very truly yours,

Francis D. Kenny

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter and our telephone conversation, I have got in touch with my daughter and she has already gone ahead with the registration and I think has put up to the Boston office about the liability, if they will take it. The car is going to be registered in Massachusetts. In case the matter is referred to you, she is 19½ years old and has full operator's license both in New York and Massachusetts.

Very truly yours,
